Our Story

We founded The Customs Company after years on the front lines of international trade. Time and time again, we ran into the same problems faced by many importers, exporters, and freight forwarders: incomplete data, unclear HS codes, unexpected questions from customs, and shipments being held up while costs kept running. That had to change.

Today, we make customs matters simple, fast, and predictable. Once we receive all the required documentation, we complete the process the same day. You have one dedicated point of contact, and we communicate transparently about every step.
